

Melbourne, Victoria

AUSTRALIA

Located in one of the safest countries in the world for investment, Victoria and its capital city, Melbourne, offers a stable, prosperous foundation to grow your business. On the cusp of Asia, Victoria offers rich opportunities and markets for new products and services.

Competitive Melbourne

Over the years, Victoria has generated consistent and sustainable economic growth, well above the OECD average, thanks to a dynamic, competitive business environment and broad economic base.

Victoria is proud of being the engine room of the Australian economy, occupying just 3% of this vast continent, it is nevertheless responsible for a quarter of the nation's economic activity.

The state's economic staying power helped make Australia the only OECD country on the planet to record positive growth during the global financial crisis. In fact Victoria has maintained its AAA ratings (Standard & Poor's and Moody's) throughout and beyond the crisis.

With an economy larger than Singapore, Hong Kong or New Zealand, Victoria punches above its weight regionally, making it a logical springboard to Asia.

There is a growing list of top international companies who call Melbourne home.

- ExxonMobil
- Toyota
- Mondelez
- Cargill
- CITIC
- Glencore
- Qenos
- GSK
- Siemens

Melbourne Connects

Melbourne connects your business with Australia, the Asia-Pacific, and the world.

Melbourne International Airport is the gateway linking the world to south-eastern Australia, with over 32 million passengers each year boarding almost 650 international flights a week, around the clock. It is also home to Australia's largest and busiest container port.

Melbourne is Australia's technological heart. It was chosen as the home to the largest telecommunications infrastructure rollout in the world – the National Broadband Network.

Melbourne Works

There are more than five million reasons to base your business in Victoria: the unique fusion of energy, creativity and ability of its people.

Melbourne speaks your language. More than half of Victorians were born overseas (or have a parent who was) and a quarter of the population speaks a language other than English.

As well as being Australia's education capital, Victoria educates the region. The state has ten world-class universities, eight of them with campuses in Melbourne's central business district.

Victoria produces the largest number of engineering and information technology graduates in Australia each year. But its education base is broader than that; nearly 60 per cent hold a post-secondary school qualification, and one third hold university qualifications.

Melbourne Lives

Melbourne has been named the most liveable city in the world by the Economist Intelligence Unit for four years in a row, and has consistently featured in the top three rankings over the past decade. Its quality of life means recruiting and retaining talented professionals is easy.

Melbourne has art galleries, museums, wineries and a sophisticated and varied gastronomic scene. A city of festivals, Melbourne celebrates writers, film, comedy, fashion and design and our many cultures, all year round.

Its track record in attracting major events is second to none and the city's world-class sporting and entertainment venues are all within walking distance of the city centre.

Melbourne Supports

Victoria's appetite for clearing bureaucratic roadblocks has led the OECD to identify it as a world leader in regulatory reform. The state leads Australia in cutting taxes and regulations.

In fact, Victoria is one of the fastest and easiest places in the world to set up a business. Nationally, Australia's foreign investment approvals process is simple and straightforward. And the Victorian Government is pro-business, fostering an environment of growth and innovation.

The state also has a world-class investment attraction and facilitation agency: Invest Victoria.
